DOKYUBATA 2023 CONTEST MECHANICS

ህገሥርዓተ ጥንታዊ ልምድ ማስጠንቀቂያ

BACKGROUND

The State recognizes the vital role of the youth in nation-building and shall promote and protect their physical, moral, spiritual, intellectual, and social well-being by enhancing their overall development, taking into account sectoral needs and conditions in the development of educational, cultural, recreational policies and programs addressed to them. Likewise, the State recognizes the importance and impact of broadcast media, particularly television programs on the value formation and intellectual development of children and must take steps to support and protect children's interests by providing television programs that reflect their needs, concerns, and interests, without exploiting them. The State further recognizes broadcasting as a form of mass communication guaranteed by the Constitution, the exercise of which is impressed with the public interest, and which imposes upon the broadcast industry the social responsibility of ensuring that its activities serve the interest and welfare of the Filipino people.

The National Council for Children's Television (NCCT) is mandated to formulate policies on children's media programs and recommend plans and priorities for the government towards the promotion, development, production, and broadcasting of child-friendly programs for children.

In fact, the 1987 Philippine Constitution mandates the State to defend the right of children to assistance, including proper care and nutrition, and special protection from all forms of neglect, abuse, cruelty, exploitation, and other conditions prejudicial to their development.

In a study conducted by the NCCT in 2015, 84% of Filipino children consider television as their primary source of information with telenovelas as their most-watched television program. Children in areas with access only to free-to-air television (transmitted over the air without charge), do not have enough choices of what programs to watch. These young minds are greatly influenced by television, but the choice is limited to only what the network's programming offers.

Thus, NCCT created DokyuBata in order to produce quality television programs that will truly reflect the needs, concerns, and interests of Filipino children.

DOKYUBATA:

“Isang Pagdiriwang ng Dokumentaryong Pantelebisyon Para sa Batang Pilipino”

DokyuBata is an annual video documentary contest that started in 2017. Generally, video documentaries are cost-efficient as even students can create their own without having to go through the stringent process of production in contrast to what is done in mainstream media, films, clips, and other commercialized videos. The NCCT believes that through this kind of child-friendly competition, children will be able to create a platform where they can actively and creatively express their thoughts.

OBJECTIVES

Specifically, DokyuBata aims to:

1. Provide an avenue where aspiring young television documentarists can showcase and share their talents;
2. Raise stakeholders' awareness of the value and necessity of child-friendly television content and highlight the feasibility of producing quality programs;
3. Encourage children, youth, and professionals to promulgate creative yet meaningful television content by exposing them to quality documentaries;
4. Promote child participation on pressing issues that directly affect their total development;
5. Encourage the participation of the citizenry in creating child-friendly quality programs; and
6. Capture stories that advocate gender equality and sensitivity.

With the increasing number of technological innovations, the young generation can now be recognized as prosumers because they consume and produce content simultaneously. Through DokyuBata, children (not less than 12 years old) and adults now have the chance to produce child-friendly media content and become the State's partner in building a well-informed and media-literate nation.

ACTIVITIES

For this year, the NCCT prepared six (6) major DokyuBata activities, namely:

1. DokyuBata TV – a television program showcasing selected DokyuBata entries. All winners will get a chance to be featured in DokyuBata TV.

DOKYUBATA 2023 THEME

“Dokyu-Rehiyon: Stories of Regional Voices and Identities”

The Philippines, due to political separations and geographical boundaries, is divided into 17 regions. The unique geography of the Philippines brought forth diverse cultural, political, and economic practices.
